

748s AT WORK

Skyways Coach Air have three 748s in service or on order, flying high-frequency summer shuttles to France from the grass airfield at Lympe

THERE are five operators of the Avro 748 twin Rolls-Royce Dart feeder-liner: the British independents Skyways and BKS; Aerolíneas Argentinas; Brazilian Air Force; and—this year—the Indian Air Force. So far the Series 1 version of the aircraft is in civil operation, and the Series 2 version is in military use. These pictures are representative of the variants that are steadily piling up hours in the United Kingdom, South America and India.

Largest fleet of 748s in service is operated by Aerolíneas Argentinas, who have nine Series 1s based at Buenos Aires
