Services scheduled, regional, domestic, passenger
Parent organisation/shareholders AirTran Holdings
Date established June 1993 Date operations started 26 October, 1993
Description Operates over 275 daily departures to 30 cities throughout the eastern USA and the Midwest, including over 130 daily departures from Atlanta Hartsfield. The airline operates a fleet of 48 jet aircraft and is the launch customer for the new Boeing 717.
History Formerly known as Conquest Sun Airlines, the carrier was renamed AirTran Airways in August 1994. Following Northwest's objection to AirTran Airways' entry into the jet carrier business, its parent company signed an agreement with Northwest for the spin-off to shareholders of the non-airline businesses. They became part of a new holding company, AirWays, which also owned Mesaba Aviation. In July 1997 AirWays announced a merger with ValuJet Airlines' parent company ValuJet Inc. of Atlanta. On 24 September, 1997, the afore mentioned parent companies became AirTran Holdings. ValuJet was renamed AirTran Airlines and operations under that name began on 1 September, 1998. On 23 September, 1999, AirTran Airways became the first airline in the world to take delivery of the Boeing 717.

Alliances Air China, American Airlines, American Eagle Airlines, Canadian Airlines, Continental Airlines, Era Aviation, Horizon Air, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, LanChine, Northwest Airlines, Peninsula Airways, Qantas Airways, Reeve Aleutian Airways, Trans States Airlines, Trans World Airlines
Date established 1932 Date operations started 1932
Description Major carrier operating scheduled air services to 35 cities in the USA and 7 international destinations. The network is further expanded through sister company Horizon Air.
History Traces its roots to McGee Airways, which ran its inaugural service between Anchorage and Bristol Bay in 1932 with a single-engine, three passenger aircraft. Mergers and acquisitions produced changes in the name of the airline and saw business expand throughout Alaska. The name Alaska Airlines was adopted on 6 June, 1944.

Alaska's sister carrier, Horizon Air, was founded in 1981 to serve communities using routes vacated by larger airlines after the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978. In 1985, Alaska Air Group was formed as a holding company. A year later, the holding company acquired Horizon Air Industries and Jet America Airlines, which merged into Alaska Airlines in 1987.
