Asian Aerospace ushers in a new era for the UAV industry

The signs are now clearer. A more progressive Asian Aerospace will return in 2004.

As Asia-Pacific's most influential aerospace and defence show, Asian Aerospace is THE networking platform for the aviation industry, meeting tomorrow's needs with today's anticipation.

At Asian Aerospace 2004, the spotlight will be on all aspects of developments and deployments within the dynamic UAV industry.

The Unmanned Aerial Vehicle (UAV) market has expanded dramatically in recent years, from a mere fledgling to a mainstream aerospace business. The significant growth is underlined by industry forecast of an annual turnover in excess of US$5 billion, by the end of the decade.

A special exhibition highlight on the major players, who are shaping the direction of a new era for the industry, is complemented with an official UAV conference, held concurrently with Asian Aerospace 2004.

By going beyond connections, we take it to the top with Asian Aerospace.

Register with us today and experience this new era!
