

THE FLANDERS MONOPLANE.

To Mr. L. Howard-Flanders must be given the credit of having produced a distinctive and highly original monoplane. Although in its general appearance it does not differ a great deal from its contemporaries of the same type, a closer study reveals so many features of real interest that the machine may almost be termed an encyclo-pædia of constructional methods for the aeroplane builder. Further,

The Flanders monoplane, front view.

The Flanders monoplane, as seen from behind.

The Flanders monoplane, as seen from the side, giving an idea of the stream-line form of the body.