

Peace comes on wings...

THROUGHOUT the centuries the classic symbol of peace has been an olive branch borne to troubled mankind on the wings of a dove.

Tomorrow, the olive branch of peace will be borne by winged transport throughout the world.

Civil aviation, after the war, will give birth to tremendous and far-reaching developments arising from its wider use by an increasingly air-minded public.

These developments, making air travel safer, surer and speedier, are the particular interest of General Aircraft Limited. We shall be ready for tomorrow and will contribute in providing the wings that are the wheels of tomorrow.
