

8out of every9

British Naval Aircraft were Fairey types

Deeds speak louder than words. Without comment, but by no means without pride, we record one part of our contribution to the victory.

No fewer than eight out of every nine operational aircraft of British manufacture that were delivered to the Royal Navy from all sources were Fairey types.

Today, the Fairey Firefly is officially cited as "the standard two-seat Fighter Reconnaissance Aircraft in Naval Service."

THE FAIREY AVIATION COMPANY, LTD., HAYES, MIDDLESEX