

Everywhere you fly, you're

The PW200 comes with an unmatched advantage that's designed to help the operator rest easy: P&WC's superb support system, protecting you night and day.

Many other advantages have been designed in, too. Easy operation and reduced pilot workload result from FADEC technology. And innovative features like auto start and no required cool-down period make for fast starts and quick stops. All ideal for short turn-around missions.

Which is no coincidence, because Pratt & Whitney Canada really listened to operators when we developed the PW200.

And that same concern for your needs runs through everything we do, from the day you take delivery.

We call it Total Customer Support.

The PW200 is now ready for service entry. Ready to fulfill a public service mission in the P&WC tradition of total dependability.

RUGGED, RELIABLE PW200
